THE RED CROSS

Once again, this year the Red Cross is asking you for funds, blood, and in some cases for your time in the work of solicitation. The President has appealed to the nation to raise a minimum of $85,000,000, which would enable the Red Cross to meet its "unprecedented peacetime demands."

The Red Cross is directly responsible for the saving of many lives in Korea through its liberal donations of blood plasma which were, in some cases, obtained in annual drives such as the March drive now approaching. Although the supply of plasma has dwindled to a dangerously low point at times, the Red Cross and other sources have managed to keep a sufficient supply on hand to meet emergency demands in Korea.

To meet such emergency commitments and to be able to respond immediately to disasters such as the great flood in the Midwest last year, the Red Cross needs funds and appeals to you for a generous donation. The organization spent $14,000,000 of its funds in the flood last year and without generous contributions from all sections of the country, emergency aid, which is so welcome and helpful in times of disasters, could not be extended.

The Hancock County Eagle endorses the Red Cross drive this year and asks its readers to meet the needs of 1952 with a generous response. Your contribution or your blood donation might one day save a life which might otherwise be lost.

J. Cyril Glover, City Commissioner, has been named Hancock County Chairman, and reports that the 1952 quota for the County is $5,735. Mr. Glover appeals to every man, woman and child to join in the work of reaching this quota, a feat Hancock County has never failed to achieve.

REMOVAL OF SIGNS ON HIGHWAYS AID OF DEPARTMENT

The State Highway Department announced that a state-wide cleanup in highway advertising signs is now in progress.

A spokesman for the department related that the move is in line with legislation already on the books, and calls for eventual removal of all commercial signs in violation of state laws.

Signs along the highway are limited to three restrictions, it was said. These are: (1) No signs are permitted on highway "right-of-way"; (2) No advertising sign is permitted nearer than 50 feet to the centerline of a state highway; and (3) No advertising signs, outside the corporate limits of a town or city, are permitted within a radius of 200 feet from the point of intersection of two public roads or a railroad.

It was stated that those signs that compare as "large and expensive" would not be wrecked, but that owners would be given ten days' notice to remove them, and to meet allowances permitted by law.

The Coast area is in for an examination, with crews working south of Hattiesburg started Monday and on the Coast later in the week, it was said.

MISSISSIPPI STATE COLLEGE WILL OBSERVE 75th YEAR IN '53

The year 1953 has been designated as a year of celebration in observance of the 75th anniversary of the founding of Mississippi State College. President Fred W. Mitchell announced... The Board of Trustees has appointed: R. N. Hensley of Macon to serve on the planning committee, and Dr. E. E. Jobe, Executive Secretary of the Board, will also work with the college on the celebration. The college was established by action of the Mississippi Legislature on February 29, 1878, and on December 13, 1878, the Board of Trustees selected the site for the institution.

Bill Putting Game Activities Under 5-Man Bill Proposed

WOULD ABOLISH EIGHT MEMBER COMMISSION

Jackson—An administration-sponsored measure putting the operation of state game and fish activities under a five-man board named by the governor was headed the Legislature.

Reorganization of the agency, which has been a frequent target of legislative attacks including one charge of "misappropriation of funds," has been in the talking stage throughout the current session of the Legislature.

Rep. Russell Fox, Jefferson County, who introduced the proposal, insisted that "all that has been wrong with the game and fish commission is administration," and he added that "this bill should cure that."

The unwieldy present eight-man commission would be abolished and the five-man body, with each commissioner coming from a designated area of the state, would direct policy of the agency.

Terms of the governor's term, meaning that an entire commission would be named by each governor. The measure also strikes out normal requirements that appointments should have consent of the State Senate.

Fox, who was joined in submitting the bill by six other lawmakers, said that "it's time we stopped talking about reorganization and do something about it."

He added that the agency was "becoming demoralized" because of uncertainty over possible legislative action. Under the measure, Fox said, all present personnel employed by the commission would be retained until the new commission takes office, and then the new body would make personnel changes.

Four top positions would be set up by the bill—the director of conservation at $7,500; an assistant director who would be chief law enforcement officer at $5,500; a public relations officer at $5,000 with administrative responsibilities and a chief of game and fish management at $5,000.

Present organization revolves almost entirely around the director. All game wardens would be raised $500 a year in salary by the measure, with a scale of $2,000 for third-grade wardens, $1,500 for second-grade wardens and $3,000 for first grade wardens established by the measure.

Fox's measure puts a strong clamp on the use of funds by the game and fish agency. In addition to legislative approval every two years of the total funds to be used by the agency, allocation of funds will come through the state treasury.

All funds for the operation of the agency come from fees and licenses paid for by sportsmen. They now are kept in a fund from which the commission matches money provided by the federal government without state supervision.

The areas which would be represented on the commission are the Delta, North Mississippi exclusive of the delta, Central Mississippi, Southwest Mississippi and the coastal plain.

Fox said that his measure has been drafted with the agreement of Gov. Hugh White, and legislative leaders who have been pushing for reorganization of the agency.

Earlier, the proposal most widely considered was a three-man commission. "We did not feel that a three-man commission would properly represent all areas," Fox declared.

Lamar Life Invests $3,350,025 In Mississippi During 1951

Turning Mississippi insurance dollars into new homes, new business and industry, the Lamar Life Insurance Company during 1951 invested $3,350,025 in the State of Mississippi.

During the same period, $2,068,213 was paid out to Mississippi policyholders and their beneficiaries. Company employees and agents, and firms supplying the Company in Mississippi—a total of $5,418,238 pumped into the stream of commerce in the state.

For over two decades, Mississippians have placed more ordinary insurance with Lamar Life than with any other Company. The dollars so used have stayed at home, circulating on Main Street, home and farm, helping to build Mississippi—helping make this state a better place to live in.

Rev. Batson Returns

The Rev. Schuyler Batson, Baptist pastor, who has been ill at the home of his father in Jackson for the last 10 days, arrived home Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Batson and their small daughter. The Rev. Batson is much improved, but has not fully recovered.

28 COUNTIES SHARING IN U. S. FORESTRY FUND

Twenty-eight Mississippi counties having National Forest lands will share in the distribution of $308,558.22 dividend check received from the U. S. Forest Service, State Treasurer Newton James has announced. The largest payment goes to Franklin County with $47,369 and the next highest is Scott County with $45,119. Action will be initiated to disburse these funds within the next few days, he added. The distribution is based on the total amount of receipts by national forest units and is in proportion to the volume and value of timber cut from a given national forest.

YOU SEE MORE because YOU GET MORE

No doubt about the fact you see more GMC trucks on the roads today than ever before—and the reason's no mystery.

This popularity must mean that GMC owners are getting more of the kind of performance they appreciate in a truck. Like what?

Like more horsepower. Not more than you need, but all that you need to meet exacting schedules—without relying on excessive speeds to make up the time many trucks lose when the going is rough.

Like more hub-to-hub, bumper-to-tail light stamping. Plenty of brawn in the right places—yet a GMC is a trim truck, engineered so that it doesn't penalize your day load with dead weight.

Whether your hauling involves gasoline or Diesel power—light, medium or maximum loads—why not come in and see a new GMC? See why you get more!

Get a real truck!

Reflex & Treasures

A note on my typewriter says, "How can I have more power?" I get overwhelmed when I meet new people and don't know what to say. What I have to say will be of as much benefit to me as it is to the writer of the note. For I am constantly trying to attract more power, myself, therefore I have analyzed the situation and arrived at this conclusion: The problem of what to say and how to say it is a problem of the writer of the note. Most of their true reactions they should reveal at such a time. Some people deal with situations such as these by acting superior. But this attitude never goes undetected and usually forms a very unfavorable impression. They wish to indicate that your home is lovely by their reaction, but that theirs is even more beautiful, for that may be important in your work, but that they know that they are also important in theirs. This is fatal to a lasting friendship and certainly should not be indulged in—no matter how badly we may feel that we want recognition for what we have achieved or accomplished. Modesty is a priceless virtue that should be developed by all of us. There is nothing more expediting or boring than to have someone follow up a good story with "one better," or to have another make an odious comparison by trying to top what you have just related. It is a mark of very poor breeding and should be avoided like a plague if one wishes to have power and "make friends and influence people." Most people recognize one's qualities without being reminded. Most people know what you are or what you have or what you represent by your very attitude toward other people and do not have to be reminded by your material wealth, your social position, background, prestige or whatever in order to form a good opinion of you. In fact, the very parading of these facts, if they are facts, has the opposite effect. It denotes lack of culture which convinces the other that you suffer from inferiority and are using the air of bragadocio to cover up your true fears. Therefore, that approach is surely not to be recommended as substance for conversation when meeting people.

The opposite of the above type is the "gushy" type who is impressed and cannot help but show it. The importance of anything is the importance you yourself give it. When you gush over a person you have just met, you are considered important or who, perhaps, has great wealth, the two he comes immediately away if you half expect to have you cling to him and another him with too profuse exclamations. This always leaves all but the too concerned.

Using moderation when coming with new attention is always the best technique. It detracts nothing from your own loveliness or worth to express genuine admiration of new people, places or experiences. It seems to me that I find it easiest to grasp the hand of the new person with a really warm clasp and truthfully and simply say, "Then turn the spotlight on them by asking a simple question as to their visit and listen attentively while they speak. I think a feeling of genuine welcome should put any of us at ease with strangers and it certainly goes a long way toward making the stranger feel that he is one of the group or community. Avoiding comparisons between what you are or what you have is a safe way of attaining power. Thinking of the other person makes it much easier to converse with intelligence.

Being overwhelmed with people just because they are "names" throws one all off balance and ties the tongue in an embarrassing manner. Judge one's achievements according to your own scale of values. Treat the same respect and kindness you would show any other person. And above all, let us try to remember that they, too, are human and really not any different than we.

I am convinced that a true sense of friendliness is practically all we need to assure power. One senses your feeling and warmth and it puts him at ease.

The question then arises, "What happens when one discovers that he does not especially like the person in question?"

We have all, more or less, found ourselves in that situation. As we learn to know people better we also learn their faults and their own discrepancies. Sometimes the friendship is big enough to overlook them. In that case it goes on, quietly accepting what it does not like or approve because the better qualities outweigh the lesser. But, in other cases where a sense of irritation or annoyance arises because of another's faults it is best to let the acquaintance go by the wayside, rather than to leave it to develop into something unpleasant. We cannot all like the same people, for we all have separate natures which have a peculiar habit of having separate opinions. It seems only natural that certain natures clash when it is considered that the said natures think in entirely different channels. Perhaps do not even have a thought in common. And who can say that one is right or the other wrong? It is only human conjecture, after all, that says one is mistaken while the other remains inflexible. We all certainly have the privilege of choosing our friends from among our acquaintances, and we are happier in the companionship of some than we are of others.

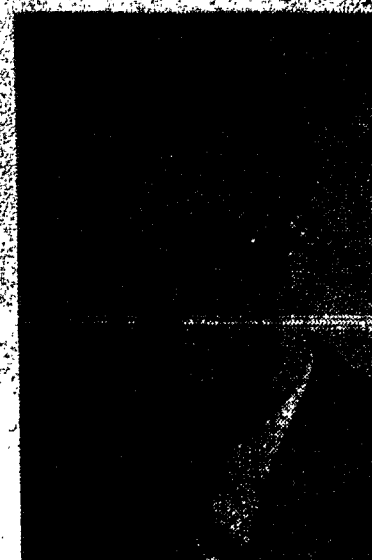

Even though we are happier in the companionship of some than others, they may not always share our sentiments and will sometimes drift away to a relationship which they find more in keeping with their own tastes. This is surely a privilege which we would not conscientiously deny them.

The whole idea of friendship can be summed up in the few words written by one of the scribes, that "friendship is as rare as a precious jewel," so we need never expect too much of it, ask too much of it or fret too much over it. One of the greatest and most popular men in history once said, "I have found throughout my lifetime that I have maintained two friends—my wife and my mother."

Someone recently disputed a statement concerning the background of the well-known Jimmy Moran. So here are some facts that this column has gleaned:

Jimmy Moran was born Jimmy Brocato. He was orphaned at a very early age. His sister Anna was unofficially adopted by a rather wealthy spinster in New Orleans and at this moment is caring for the spinster, who has been

Miss. Valley Gas Co. Names Chief Engineer

J. Harry Lambdin, well-known state man, is appointed to key post with MV Gas company.

JACKSON, MISS.—J. Harry Lambdin will be chief engineer of the Mississippi Valley Gas Company, it was announced by Minor Summers, president. The gas company recently purchased the natural gas facilities of Mississippi Power & Light Company in 52 cities, towns and communities and will take over actual operation as soon as it is physically possible to do so.

As chief engineer, Mr. Lambdin brings a wealth of experience to his new position. He has had 23 years of service with Mississippi Power & Light Company; is a graduate of Miss. State College in mechanical and electrical engineering, and a registered professional engineer.

Mr. Lambdin, member of a prominent Natchez family, is well known throughout the state and in national engineering circles. He is a Presbyterian, a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity, the Jackson Club and the Jackson Chamber of Commerce. His wife is the former Norvell Board of Jackson and they have three children, Jane, Ann and Harry, Jr. The Lambdins will continue to reside at 828 Euclid Avenue in Jackson since general offices of Mississippi Valley Gas Company will be located in that city.

Purchase of the gas properties was financed for Mississippi Valley Gas Company by Equitable Securities Corporation of Nashville, Tennessee which expects soon to make public offering of the common stock of the gas company.

Sale of the gas properties of Mississippi Power & Light Company to Mississippi Valley Gas Company was approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission order dated January 22, 1952.

This is the largest sale of public utility holdings in the state's history and involves facilities in 52 cities, towns and communities in the western half of Mississippi.

attempt to vary any sentence of his unenviable past.

Getting down on a shooting would be so bad—if you had shot anyone like the new ones ordered by Jimmy. His shoe lace, which will be ready in time for the Kentucky Derby, isn't ordinary lace. His shoe lace will have ten carats in diamonds stitched in.

Anyone sitting near Moran at the Derby will have a difficult time concentrating on the race. Jimmy will really be sparkling when he arrives at Churchill Downs, Ky. He will be wearing $125,000 worth of stones.

None of the diamonds will be large, but he will be wearing them in every conceivable place. He will have a solid bank of gems across the top rim of his eyeglasses, diamonds in the mink pelt he wears for a tie, and a row of stones across his collar pin.

In addition, he will have a clasp of diamonds across his upper teeth (how too, too vulgar), diamonds as fillings in other teeth, diamonds as cuff links, in his fountain pen and on his fingers.

As a boy Jimmy shined shoes and finally saved up five dollars to buy a diamond clip, which he still likes best of all his stones. From shoe shine boy he rose to prize fighter, fight manager, referee, chief, owner of coin machines, owner of a swank restaurant—which he still has, of course—and partner in several extremely profitable enterprises.

Today, Jimmy Brocato Moran is fifty, and one of New Orleans' best known citizens.

Trying to get investments for a new invention was a wearying job, thought the tall man, putting down his suitcase. It began to look as though his dream must remain just a dream.

Sitting back in the coach car of the rumbling train, he rehearsed the remarks and sneers that had greeted his efforts.

"Put money in that contraption? Are you mad, sir?" "Sir, you've wasted your time with that crazy thing!"

Perhaps tomorrow, he thought, he'll give me help. I know I have something here that will save time, effort, even life if only—

Next morning he approached his prospect, Mark Twain, the famed humorist, and asked him to invest in his invention. Twain smiled.

"Mister, I've lost plenty of money on bad risks, I—"

"But," interrupted the inventor, "you need only invest $50.00, and I'll leave you my name."

Twain took the slip of paper and placed it between the pages of a book.

Many years later—after the inventor's idea had become a household item—Mark Twain was going through his books when he came across one with a slip of paper he had placed there years before. The name written on it was "Alexander Graham Bell," the inventor of the telephone.

It has certainly been a lucrative invention—and now we learn that the company is starting negotiations for a four cents increase in telephone rates. Whew.

Once more there is enough western iceberg lettuce to go round. Prices at the point of production have dropped and already the lowered prices are reflected in your local retail stores.

Crisp, crunchy lettuce is a staple food item in kitchens all over America.

It is especially appreciated during the winter months.

Actually, head lettuce from California and Arizona is never out of season. Shipments vary, however, because there are peaks in the harvest and likewise low periods in production.

Sometimes that famous California sunshine falls and the lettuce does not mature on schedule. Then, of course, supply cannot equal the demand.

The delicious product can be served with a new sauce which makes it even more delectable. Here it is:

GREEN GODDESS DRESSING

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 clove garlic (minced or grated)
- 3 anchovies, chopped
- ¼ cup finely chopped chives or green onion tops
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 1 Tbs. fresh lemon juice
- 1 Tbs. tarragon vinegar
- ½ tsp. salt
- pepper to taste
- ½ cup sour cream, whipped.

Combine the ingredients, folding in the whipped cream after the other ingredients have been blended. Tear the lettuce into bite-sized pieces and toss with a generous amount of the dressing.

This is a good appetizer salad or it may accompany the main course. The recipe makes sufficient dressing for about two quarts of torn lettuce.

If you are without a maid, get family and guests from underfoot by having one of the youngsters serve a tray while you mash the potatoes or make the gravy or do other last-minute touches to the dinner. Cold pineapple juice can be served with the snacks if the minister is calling or if your guests are tatters.

Several delicacies, which can be prepared ahead and popped into the oven for a few minutes, are the following:

Cut veal or beef loaf (canned) into triangular shapes, spread each with a thin layer hot mustard or a drop or two of Worcestershire sauce, spear each with a toothpick. Stuffed olives, wrapped with a small piece of bacon, pineapple chunks, wrapped in a thin strip of cheese and held intact with a toothpick, and deviled ham pastries.

For the deviled ham pastries, cut tiny rounds from rich pastry. Put a teaspoonful of deviled ham on a half round. Moisten edges with water and fold over. Crimp with a fork and prick the top. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) for eight or ten minutes.

Have you seen the adorable little straw containers for the ordinary clay flower pots? They come in green, natural or red, and are slipped over the

And on the catty side: Many a girl whose face is her fortune has nothing back of it but frozen assets.

The saying, "Great minds run in the same channels," is untrue as far as we are concerned. A great mind makes its own unique channel.

As an afterthought: There are times when a man, out of loyalty to his highest convictions, must take a stand regardless of criticism. There are times when he must stand by his colors, even if friends advise another course, or mournfully shake their heads over his "mistake."

We may well listen, for a time, to the counsel of those we trust, but eventually we must face our own way, and stand by our decision. And when we do it is best never to reopen the issue with our friends or question ourselves.

SEXY TOMATO

The common tomato plant contains material that can be used to make the medically important sex hormones, progesterone and testosterone, according to the Agriculture Department. Progesterone is used in drugs for the correction of menstrual disturbances, prevention of spontaneous abortions and relief of cervical cancer. Testosterone also is used as a remedy for menstrual disturbances and for suppressing breast cancer.

UNITED INVESTS MANY MILLIONS TO PROVIDE GAS SERVICE

Every time you light a burner on your gas range, remember that dependable natural gas service doesn't "just happen." Our company alone has invested some 290 millions of dollars in wells, pipe lines and other equipment in the last ten years to provide dependable, low-cost natural gas service. That is three times the amount we invested for this purpose in the ten preceding years.

But we have more than money invested in the Gulf South. We have our faith in the future... our hopes for finer and greater accomplishments... our desire to share in the progress of this area.

Our interests are the same as those of all good citizens, and our rewards are the same as yours.

UNITED GAS SERVING THE Gulf South

30-inch Pipeline Nearing Completion

Cost of $170 Million
Expansion Program

Over 1,000 men now are employed by contractors engaged in United Gas Pipe Line Company construction projects in Mississippi. The construction includes a 744-horsepower compressor station 15 miles northeast of McComb and new 30-inch and 36-inch pipelines, according to an announcement today by J. D. Davis, Jackson, district manager for United.

The projects are part of a $170,000,000 expansion of United Gas Pipe Line and distribution facilities that will increase the supply of natural gas available to residential, commercial and industrial customers in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, southern Alabama and northern Florida.

Completion of the projects under construction will add to the importance of Jackson as a hub of United Gas' Mississippi system, which serves nearly 100 communities and many industries from a network of lines extending from fields in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

The new 30-inch line enters Mississippi at a point near Ouyka and will run north through McComb, Jackson and to Kosciusko. It ties into new gas reserves in the Eugene Island area off the Louisiana shore and will also be connected to various other fields in Louisiana.

Three crews of construction workers, numbering over 300 men each, are engaged in completing the Mississippi portions of a new grid of large diameter pipe lines that United Gas is constructing over its present system. The payroll for each of these crews averages $6,000 per day. The purchase of various materials locally adds a substantial sum to the direct expenditures made in Mississippi on this project.

An additional crew of approximately 150 men has completed laying, except for installing valves, two 20-inch pipe lines under the Pearl river in Marion county near Columbia. This crossing is part of the 24-inch pipe line that United Gas recently completed from the new McComb compressor station, in the northwest corner of Walthall county, to the Baxterville field in Marion and Lamar counties. This line connects with existing United facilities in the Baxterville field and will make additional gas supplies available to communities and industries in southeast Mississippi, southern Alabama and northwest Florida. Two of the larger crews are working between McComb and Jackson. One is now near Rockport in Copiah county, about 40 miles north of McComb, and 10 miles south of a new suspension bridge which carries the pipe over the Pearl river at Hopeville. The other crew is working between Hopeville and Jackson. The third of the larger crews is now about 50 miles north of Jackson near the terminus of the line.

United Gas' new 30-inch pipe line, running from large new off-shore Louisiana reserves to Kosciusko, is rapidly nearing completion. The new line, which will materially increase the supply of natural gas to Mississippi communities and industries served by United, crosses the Pearl river near Hopeville, east of Crystal Springs. The river crossing (shown above) was accomplished by means of a 531-foot suspension bridge. The magnitude of the installation is demonstrated by the man standing to the right of the pipe line in the foreground.

Operation of the new compressor station near McComb is expected to begin soon after March 1, according to Davis. The station will boost the flow of natural gas originating in south Louisiana through the new pipe lines.

Five 1600-horsepower compressors, weighing 80 tons each, are being installed in the station. The foundation for each requires 200 cubic yards of concrete. Special "low boy" flat-bed trailers were used to transport the compressors from railroad flat cars at the Tylertown unloading station.

In addition to the nearly completed building that houses the compressors, construction is underway on an office building, auxiliary building and 13 residential dwellings for use of operating personnel.

A construction contractors crew of approximately 150 Walthall, Lawrence and Pike county men are installing the new compressor facilities. The total weekly payroll of the compressor station project exceeds $20,000. Some of the construction materials were purchased in McComb.

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

By GEORGETTE B. HALL

"Shells," the title of the lovely school float entered in the annual Mardi Gras parade by the Waveland School, was enjoyed by the many viewers who turned out Tuesday to see what has become a noteworthy spectacle of color and pageantry. Local merchants, parents, teachers and children who give so freely of their time and effort to make this occasion the success that it has been in recent years are to be highly commended.

Waveland's float was truly representative of the Gulf Coast, having gentle waves caressing its sides and oyster, clam and snail shells as part of its bright decorations. Children from the Waveland School rode along on the float. Kay Darich represented the oyster pearl, Hedy Ruhr was a sea sprite, and Kissie Torgerson and Shirley Watson, dressed in green satin, were most attractive snails. Although first and second prizes went to the St. Joseph's float and the Episcopal Parish floats respectively, Waveland School is to be congratulated on its creativeness and originality.

Paul and Billy Soldine are still under treatment in the Veterans Hospital in New Orleans where they were taken Sunday night after a car crash in Slidell, Louisiana. The car the boys were driving was completely demolished in the wreck. Paul suffered a broken arm and leg and Billy received many cuts and lacerations about the face.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston upon the birth of a seven pound son. This happy news makes grandparents of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Johnston and great-grandparents of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bourgeois of Waveland.

Sympathy is extended to the family of W. H. Hodges who are well known along the coast and who have maintained a summer residence in Waveland for several years. Mr. Hodges passed away last week in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Sr. Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hall and daughter Lynne viewed the Carnival festivities from the D. H. Holmes balcony. They were the guests of Col. and Mrs. W. H. Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Celino were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gipson Sunday. Thursday the Gipsos entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Quaid. Birthday greetings are in order for Mrs. Ed Gipson, who celebrated her birthday Feb. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bourgeois and daughter "Aggie," Miss Mary Margaret Turcotte, Miss Evelyn Turcotte and Miss Shirley Turcotte spent Tuesday in New Orleans. Miss Shirley Turcotte remained in New Orleans to visit relatives and friends.

Walter Turcotte spent the week-end with his family in their home on Bordages Lane. His guest was Tom Hufford. Both boys are students at Mississippi State College.

Pretty little Jerlene Martello, nine-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gipson participated in three Carnival parades this year. The youngest, a talented majorette, represented the Jeanne Bayhi Dancing School. She paraded Sunday in the Mid-City Parade and also took part in the Carrollton and Babylon parades. She was dressed in a blue coat trimmed in blue braid. She wore a white flared skirt with a blue underdress.

Misses Mary Margaret and Cecile Turcotte accompanied the children from their respective grades at the Waveland School on a tour of "Beauvoir" last week. The old mansion, now a shrine and museum, was once the home of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

Ronald Landers, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Landers, welcomed his seventeenth birthday Valentine's evening when his parents honored him with a birthday party at Waveland. About one hundred guests waited Ronald's happiest returns of the day. Everyone enjoyed the delicious refreshments and the evening of fun and frolic. Among the guests was Miss Evelyn Landers, daughter of Mr. Edgar Landers of Chicago. She is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Al Landers. Evelyn recently enrolled in the sophomore class of Bay High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schulte of Clarendon Harbor and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tucker spent Tuesday in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holm spent the Mardi Gras holidays in their home on Wood Street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Sr. spent Monday in Biloxi and Gulfport visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Torgerson and daughter Kissie drove to New Orleans Wednesday night to see the Babylon Parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gipson have had good news concerning Capt. Al Thorpe of the N. O. Police Force. Mr. Thorpe has had several major operations and was confined to the Marine Hospital for many weeks. He is now at home and is planning to return to work some time in March. This is good news and his many friends in Waveland will be happy to hear it.

Legislative Views

By WALTER JAMES PHILLIPS

During the past week of the Legislature, a flood of bills have come from Committee, and have been placed before the House for their consideration. The appropriation bills have also come out of Committee, and a large number are on the calendar awaiting action by the House. One appropriation which has not yet come out of committee, and upon which a great deal of discussion has been had, is the appropriation for the schools of the State of Mississippi. The Mississippi Education Association have been advocating at least a $56,000,000 appropriation for the schools. Governor White has stated that a $50,000,000 appropriation would be all that he thought the State of Mississippi could afford at this time. After considerable discussion, it was finally agreed that a $50,000,000 appropriation at this time would be in order, and a Study Committee would be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and the Lieutenant Governor, to investigate the possibilities of another approach to the School problem in the State. It is believed that this Committee can make an exhaustive study of the school situation, and be in position to report at a later date. The Governor has indicated that he would call a special session to put into operation the program recommended by this Study Committee. With agreement reached on the School problem, it is evident that not much time will be wasted on the floor in arguing the merits pro and con of any school bill that is introduced. It is estimated that the agreed $50,000,000 appropriation will give the school teachers of the State a small raise, and will also enable the building program to be instituted.

Another problem which faces the Legislature and which it is believed will cause a great deal of discussion is the reapportionment and the redistricting problem. It has become necessary for Mississippi to lose one Congressman due to the decrease in population throughout the state. It is the Legislature's duty to redistrict the State into Congressional Districts to take care of the loss of one Congressman. There is, of course, some opposition to each plan introduced so far. A great deal more time will have to be spent before any plan can be formulated that will pass both Houses. Equally important and just as controversial is the reapportionment problem facing the State of Mississippi. The major population loss in the State has occurred in the Northeast section of the State, whereas the Southern part of the State has increased its population. With the increase in population, it is believed by many that the Southern part of the State should have more representatives in the State Legislature. Under the formula advanced by the Constitution of 1890, the Northeastern portion of the State received most of the Representatives. It is believed that this is an appropriate time to readjust our situation, and increase the number of representatives in the Southern portion of the State, particularly Harrison and Forrest Counties. It is also expected that this problem will take a great deal of time in being solved.

No major legislation passed the house this past week. The Gas Chamber bill passed Thursday, and was held over on a motion to reconsider. A few other bills having to do with appeals from certain Courts, and raising County Judges' salaries in certain counties were passed, as well as some bills having to do with grading of seed for agriculture purposes. During the past week your Representative has intro-

SCHOOL TRUSTEE ELECTIONS

Jackson, Miss. (Special)—State Superintendent of Education J. M. Abbott calls attention to the important fact that on Saturday, March 1, trustees are elected in common and consolidated schools having three trustees, and in line school districts and rural separate districts. Schools having five trustees may use the elective or appointive method of selecting trustees.

If the appointive method is used in the absence of a petition the county superintendent will make this appointment; however, if a petition is presented to the county superintendent on or before the first Saturday, which is March 1, this year, and if the petition contains a majority of the names of the electors, a bill, which would allow the Highway Department to sell to the Counties of Harrison and Hancock a portion of each end of the bridge which is now being used on Highway 90 to cross the Bay of St. Louis, to be used as public piers. It is not anticipated that much difficulty will be encountered in passing this bill.

Another bill was introduced with a view in mind to reducing the personal tax on automobiles. This bill would grant an exemption up to $500 for one automobile in each family, or truck thereby reducing somewhat the great tax load now placed upon the automobile or truck owner.

During this past week, the Legislature has been in what was in effect a recess. This came about because of the fact that no legislative session was held during the week that the Legislature met. The Legislature met on Saturday, March 1, and the session was adjourned until Monday, March 3. The session was adjourned because of the fact that the Legislature met on a day when the State of Mississippi was observing the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The Legislature met on a day when the State of Mississippi was observing the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The Legislature met on a day when the State of Mississippi was observing the birthday of Abraham Lincoln.

Jefferson and Jackson, no great right claim these illustrations as solely its own. Their names are not trademarks for the exclusive use of anyone. Rather, all are a part of our common heritage. Even in the deepest South, has its own County, a fact that seems to be some of our Northern friends.

How Big Is Mississippi's Telephone Family?

How many people do you think it takes to provide telephone service for the 235 thousand Southern Bell telephones in Mississippi?

You'd be right if you guessed 4265—operators, supervisors, clerical forces, line men, installers, engineers and others. The payroll for these employees is one of the largest in the state.

Like everything else, telephone wages have gone up. In fact wage costs now amount to more than 50¢ of every dollar of the expense of providing telephone service.

In spite of increased wages, taxes and other operating costs, telephone rates have gone up less than prices in general. As a matter of fact, the telephone is today a bigger, better package of service and a smaller item in the family budget than it was ten years ago.

CHAMBER OF HORRORS

Defense officials have come to refer to the exhibits of waste before the House Armed Services Subcommittee as the "chamber of horrors." It is indicated that some members of the armed forces are disposed to write off duplications and waste too lightly. Certainly the taxpayer has a right to be angry when he reads of one service paying substantially more than another service for the same supply item.

This expression and the attendant publicity was a result of a committee display of various items, picked at random, purchased by the various services at prices that in some instances were far from uniform, even though the things bought were practically identical.

For a year now, the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Hebert of Louisiana, has been exposing waste and inefficiency wherever it could be found. As a result, multiplied millions have been saved, new centralized procurement methods have been set up, and procurement officers have become more economy-conscious. All three of the services have cooperated with the committee in this revamping operation. Of major importance has been the Committee's drive for a uniform catalogue system for all supply items. The Munitions Board has the task of uniting procurement between the services. Already, some 15 million separate catalogue items have been reduced to 1,500,000. This is a painstaking process. In some instances, one item has been found to have as many as 50 different listings.

We are assured that once this uniform catalogue system is perfected, cases of excessive purchases will no longer result. And there will no longer be any excuse for the "chamber of horrors."

STRAW IN THE WIND

Whether we like it or not, ever since our government was founded politics has played a big part in lawmaking and in party politics, particularly on Presidential election years. Evidence of politics is often bad in legislating, because too much attention is given by some Members to votes in November rather than to what should be done in some instances.

It is no wonder, therefore, that early elections and primaries are watched with eagle eyes by Party Bigwigs, looking for indications of how the voters may line up in November when the chips are down. A special election in New York City last week grabbed Washington headlines because an anti-Truman Republican defeated a pro-Truman Democrat in the election of a Congressman from a normally Democratic district. The vote was light, and it might not mean much. But it was a "straw in the wind" as both Party leaders put their interpretations on it.

Some Dopesters, who get paid for using crystal balls and writing out theories and exploding others, think the "straw" indicates a swing toward conservatism as opposed to Fair Dealism and excessive spending. If that is true, the trend bodes well for Southern conservatives who have been outpoken against many of the Truman Fair Deal policies and non-essential spending in recent years, and who have not gone along with the leadership which has been smitten with a pro-labor complex on issues where the "Big Brass" in the unions have favored excessive spending. The "straw" and many other "Welfare State" measures.

Then, there are the crystal gazers who figure the South might revolt this year and thereby throw the question of a president into the House of Representatives for the first time since 1824.

If they reason the South should refuse to accept the Democratic or Republican candidates for President, and throw their own choice, the election would go to the House of Representatives.

The last time the House decided an election was in the matter between Andrew Jackson and John Quincy Adams. Jackson got 99 electoral votes, Adams got 37, and the House decided the election. Adams was in the White House for only 20 days before he was defeated by Jackson.

DEVELOP CUTOVER AND BURN-OVER LAND INTO PERMANENT PASTURE

The following letter from James L. Crump, who owns and operates Holly Bluff On The Jordan, tells how he took cutover and burn-over land and made it into permanent pasture for cattle. Mr. Crump's farm gardens and pasture are among the finest in the South.

His letter follows:

Dear Sir:

Six years ago I started to experiment and develop year around pastures on my 3600-acre tract on the Jordan River, converting cutover, burn-over and sour crawfish land into permanent pastures for my cattle.

The foundation Brahman here for these more than 200 head of cattle was the original McFadden Herd established many years ago by James and Al McFadden of Victoria, Texas. These are the Quarter Breed, a hybrid that has the heavy beef characteristics of the Hereford and the toughness of the Brahman so well suited to coastal climates.

The first Brahman cattle were brought from Calcutta, India to New Orleans in 1885 by J. A. Frost of Richmond, Texas, and Albert Montgomery of Mississippi, and the offspring of these bulls interested many ranchmen.

Al McFadden purchased a bull in 1904 from the Hagenbeck Circus and this animal was used as herd sire during his lifetime. T. M. O'Connor of Victoria, Texas and A. H. Pierce Estate imported 33 Brahman cattle in 1906 from India including a few females, the first to be brought to this country.

The Holly Bluff herd runs true to form, are gentle and have the confirmation of the beef breeds and seem to get fatter and heavier because of their Brahman blood.

My summer pasture is Pensacola Bahia grass mixed with lespedeza and or white dutch clover. An interesting winter pasture is a mixture of Kentucky 31 Fescue and Ladino Clover planted on over 100 acres. Results of the trial of upland rice have been successful as use for hay, ground and mixed with cotton seed meal for a fine protein diet.

As to fertilization and mineralization one ton per acre of lime is added to the soil before seeding and then in the spring and fall 50 pounds of ammonium nitrate, 200 pounds of superphosphate and 100 pounds of potash are applied to each acre of pasture.

Aubin G. (Fritz) Harris, of Carriere, Miss., who has assumed charge of the herds of Holly Bluff Ranch in Hancock County, received his B. S. degree in Agricultural Administration in 1950 from the Mississippi State College and recently has been teaching at the Kihl High School. From 1945 he was in the U.S. Army and spent six months in Korea before his discharge in 1947. Mr. Harris is the son of W. G. Harris, who for 40 years has traded in livestock in and around Pearl River County. If you are interested in seeing my cattle and permanent pastures, get in touch with Mr. Harris, Star Route, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Very truly yours,

MISSISSIPPIANS BUY
$2,496,209 IN BONDS

Mississippians bought a total of $2,496,209 in U.S. defense bonds during January, it was announced. Harrison County led the State with $200,137 and Hinds was second with $198,004. Some other counties: Adams $16,394; Coahoma, $17,935; Forrest, $34,744; Grenada, $15,000; Lauderdale, $63,544; Neshoba, $55,044; Newton $12,831; Sunflower, $27,443; Washington, $61,312 and Wilkinson $20,400.

INCOMES

Total personal incomes rose 12 per cent during 1951, to $251,000,000,000, but the pace slackened during the last six months. Government payrolls were up 33 per cent to an annual total of $29,000,000,000.

Washington—Supporters of statehood for Alaska "do not want freedom, but more power on the floor of the US Senate," says Senator Stennis (D-Miss.).

Stennis was the keynoter for opposition to a bill proposing statehood for the United States' Northwest outpost. During the past two weeks only those favoring statehood have spoken up.

The Mississippi Democrat took issue with those who had said statehood was necessary to give Alaskans the freedom they desire.

"It's not a question of freedom," he said. "The people of Alaska already have more rights than any other land in the Pacific area. The real prize is two seats on the floor of the US Senate."

If it were a question of freedom, he added, advocates of statehood would be backing a bill to elect their own governor. Such a bill is "gathering dust" in the committee which approved the statehood proposal, Stennis said.

Alaska is "a federal project without the economy to support statehood," he continued.

The Senator said of the statehood bill passes "the people of the United States have been taken for a ride and given up their own freedom."

WHITE'S SCHOOL
PROGRAM CITED

MEA Says It Will Scrap Foundation Setup

Jackson, Miss.—The Mississippi Education Association said Gov. Hugh White had promised an educational program superior to the minimum foundation and the money to finance it.

In view of the governor's statement, the MEA signalled it would give way to the governor's wishes for scrapping the minimum foundation program worked out by the Mississippi council on education to equalize educational opportunities for Negro and white children.

Apparently to divert an impending Legislature fight over the touchy subject of equalization White stepped in with the suggestion that a joint legislative committee including himself, Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin and speaker Walter Sillers work out a plan.

The governor said he would personally oversee the work and when the program he would call the Legislature back to consider it. He said flatly he would support the committee's program—which he will help formulate—and readjust the state's tax structure to pay for it.

A tax increase of some kind looms imminent since any program equal to or surpassing the council's minimum foundation plan would require a large appropriation.

Meanwhile the Legislature seems content with the $50,000,000 compromise appropriation for common schools introduced this week at the governor's request. This sum, $10,000,000 greater than the 1950 appropriation, is not intended to implement a program of equalization but does not contain money that may be earmarked for salary raises for Negroes, whites or both.

Here in the words of the MEA is what White is on record as proposing:

1. He is supporting a stop-gap temporary appropriation of $50,000,000 without use of the foundation plan.
2. He has recommended that a legislative study committee be authorized to make an immediate study of the entire education setup.
3. He has pledged the legislative leaders and assured the teachers that upon completion of the study he would call the Legislature into extraordinary session.
4. He will recommend enactment of the necessary laws to set up the program.
5. He will recommend the necessary changes in the tax structure for adequate financing of the program.

"The equal facilities problem is what is breathing down our neck right now," the governor commented. "The minimum foundation plan for teachers' salaries takes into consideration only one phase of the equalization problem. I want to take in both equal salaries and equal facilities under my plan. Negro education leaders have agreed to endorse a plan that will be equal to

"BRIGHT VICTORY" AT STAR MON TUES HAS TENDER LOVE THEME

"Bright Victory," the new Universal-International release at the Star Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 2-4, unfolds as one of the most tender and moving love stories to reach the screen in the past decade. It's a love story that's both romantic and provocative, the story of a blinded war veteran and his heroic fight to return to normal life.

"Bright Victory" is played against a background of quiet courage, hope and the love of a veteran for an understanding girl.

In the leading role, Arthur Kennedy former Broadway star now winning new fame in Hollywood, offers an emotionally stirring portrayal of a man facing a life of darkness. Wounded in North Africa during the Tunisian campaign of World War II, he returns to society as an embittered man to find, in the end, the hope and courage to live a useful and enjoyable life.

Peggy Dow, who played the romantic lead in U-I's "Harvey", unfolds as a full-fledged star in her own right playing the feminine lead opposite Kennedy in "Bright Victory."

Other players in the picture who contribute outstanding performances are Julia Adams as Kennedy's childhood sweetheart who breaks up with him when he returns home a blinded and different man; Will Greer and Nana Bryant, as his parents; Russell Dennis, Richard Egan, John Hudson, Murray Hamilton and Don Miele.

Mark Robson's direction of "Bright Victory" is a masterpiece of motion picture direction at its best.

"Bright Victory," adapted for the screen from the highly successful novel "Lights Out" by Bernard Kendrick, was produced by Robert Buckner who also wrote the screenplay.

Jackson—Gov. Hugh White paved the way for action on redistricting the state for congressmen at this session of the Legislature.

The governor said at a press conference he was withdrawing a request he made to the lawmakers asking them to wait until a special session to consider the potentially explosive problem.

Mississippi lost one congressional seat under the 1950 census and must abolish one of its seven districts before June or all US Representatives will have to be elected from the state at large.

The governor said he and education leaders in both houses had agreed on a special session sometime this summer to consider an equalization program, so he felt the legislature should go ahead with redistricting.

There are a half-dozen plans for reshaping the state into six districts but none have as yet come out of committee.

A highly entertaining, all-in-color Columbia Picture's "Sunny Side of the Street," to play Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 2-4, is the choice of the Nation's moviegoers. It's a Supercolor comedy-drama, a rare-filled treat, comedy-crammed with romance, loaded with pleasure.

The film features eight of the greatest stars of stage, screen, radio and television. Frankie Laine, Billy Daniels, Terry Moore, Jerome Courtland and Toni Arden. These favorites are "I'm Going to Get Me a Doctor," "I May Be Wrong," "I Get Out of You," "Too Marvelous for Words," "The Love of A Gypsy," "I'll Walk in Love," "Sorrento" and "The Love of A Gypsy."

Frankie Laine, Billy Daniels, Jerome Courtland and Terry Moore are singing sweethearts in the film. Laine is a singer trying to make it on television; the latter, secretary

EXPRESS APPRECIATION

Those who were behind the Mardi Gras parade expressed appreciation of the general interest manifested in the annual celebration and especially to the Pass Christian Fire Department for entering the parade and to the local merchants decorating their places of business. A splendid spirit of cooperation was seen everywhere, they said.

THANKS

We of the Bay St. Louis Youth Center wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who had a part in making our Mardi Gras float, "King Cotton," a winning one.
